

Quantum Healthcare Products are a UK based healthcare company who source exciting and innovative products direct from the manufacturer. The iKAN hkafo is the first product we have co-designed and we are extremely excited about it.

This hkafo allows healthcare institutions, rehabilitation centres, private physiotherapists and conductive education centres to work with their patients on standing and walking. It also means families can work at home with their children on their physical condition and encouraging them to feel more included at home and school. With the iKAN hkafo being fully adjustable we offer private customers a 28 day 'no quibble' trial period. This allows you to purchase the iKAN and if within 28 days you want to return it, we will refund you the full amount paid. (It must be returned in original packaging and undamaged)

We believe that the iKAN will give parents and healthcare professionals a chance to change children's lives all around the world.

We welcome customers and distributor interest from around the world.
